ELSEVIER

Int. J. Production Economics 37 (1994) 297–298

international journal of production economics

Contents Volume 37

Vol. 37, No. 1 (November 1994)

Special Issue on Manufacturing–Sales Coordination

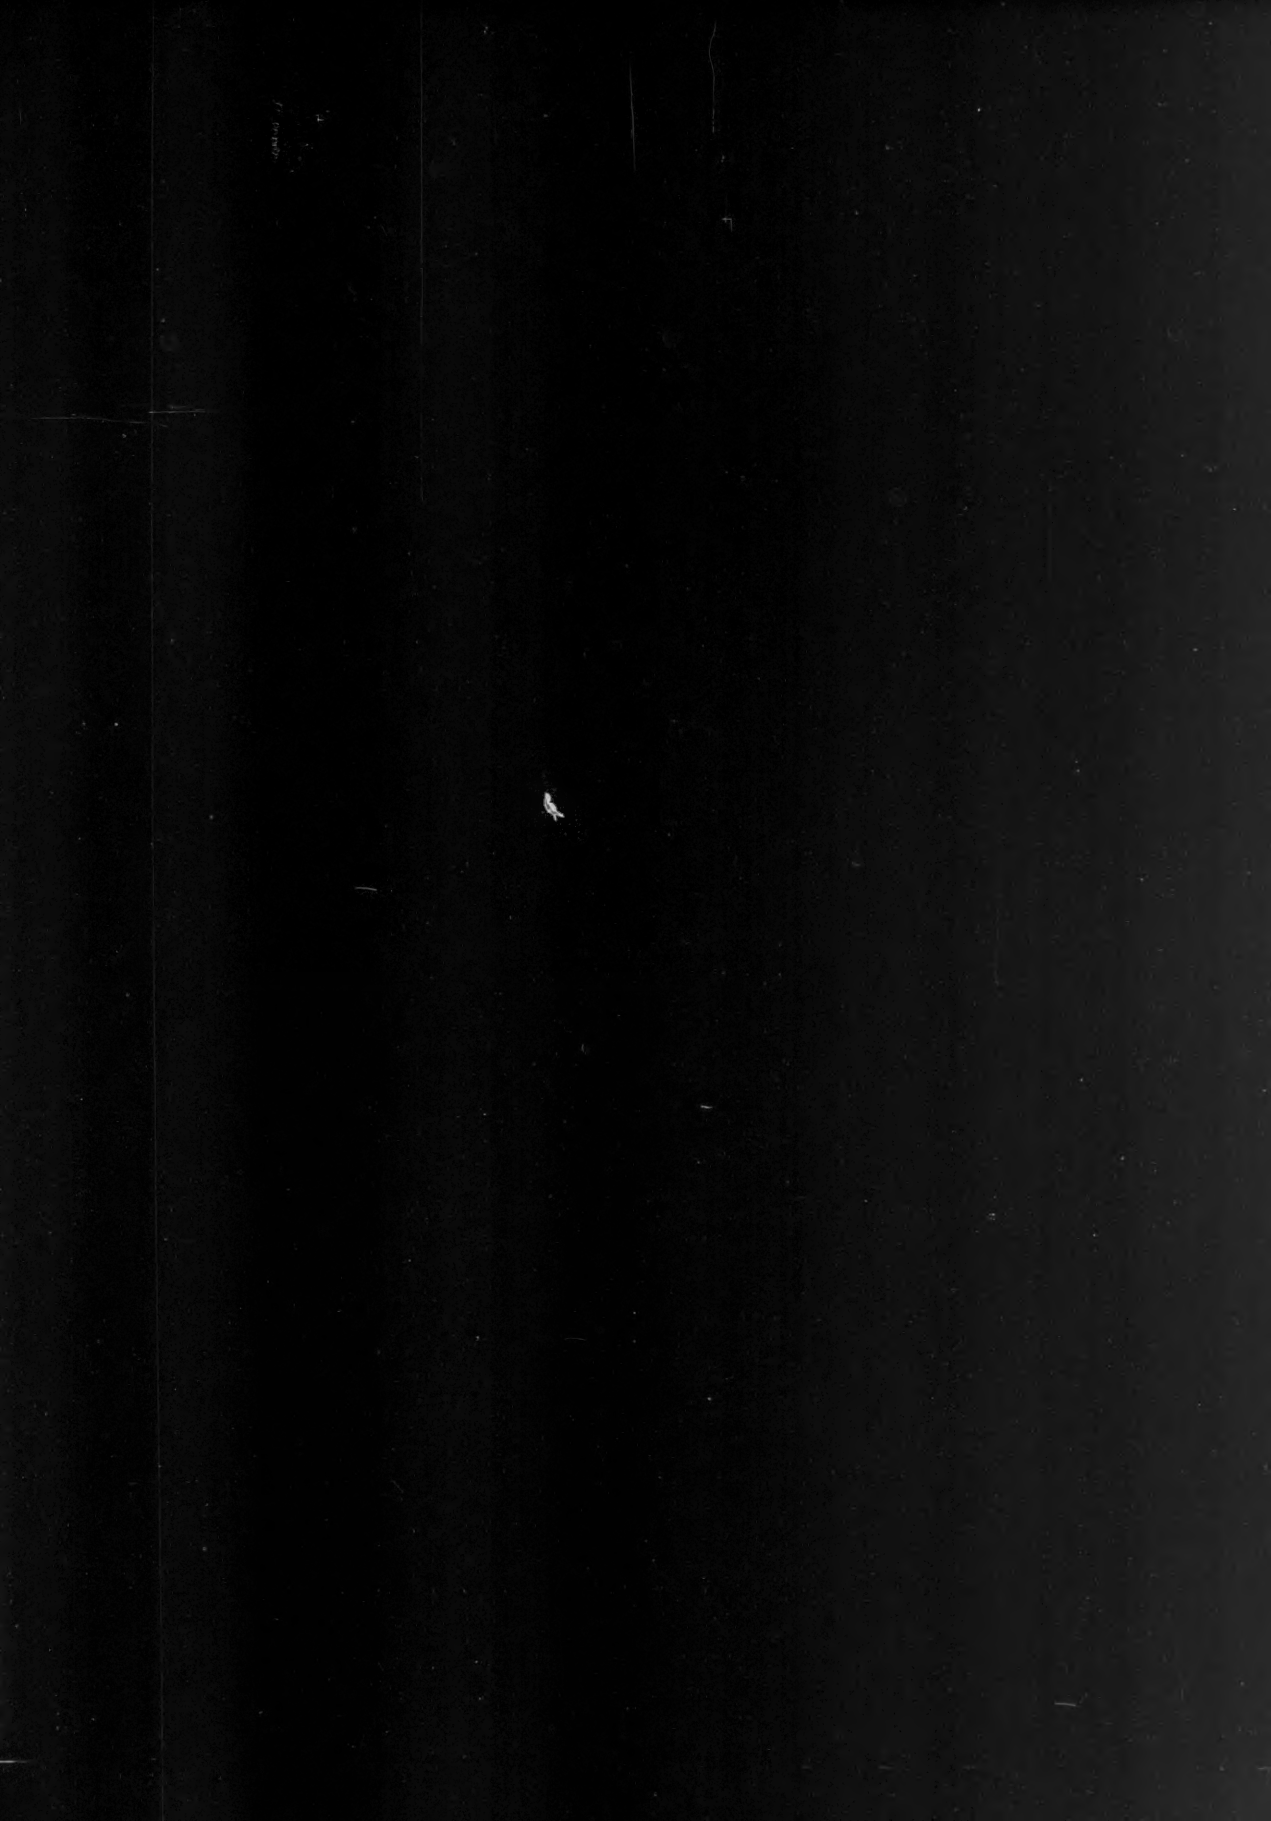
Editorial: Manufacturing–sales coordinations
D.C. Whybark (USA), J. Wijngaard (The Netherlands) 1
Production/sales interface: MPS at Hyundai Motor
C.K. Hahn, E.A. Duplaga (USA), K.Y. Kim (Korea) 5
Coordinating marketing and manufacturing in ETO companies
P.A. Konijnendijk (The Netherlands) 19
Improving interface congruence between manufacturing and marketing in industrial-product manufacturers
B.-H. Rho (South Korea), Y.-S. Hahm (Korea), Y.-M. Yu (Korea) 27
Marketing's influence on manufacturing practices
D.C. Whybark (USA) 41
Inter-organizational cost management systems: The case of the Tokyo–Yokohama–Kamakura supplier chain
R. Cooper (USA), T. Yoshikawa (Japan) 51
Customer-driven manufacturing in Japan
T. Murakoshi (Japan) 63
Sales and manufacturing coordination in repetitive manufacturing: Characteristics and problems
M. Spencer (USA), F. Cox III (USA) 73
Manufacturing and sales co-ordination for product variety
F.J. Erens (The Netherlands), H.M.H. Hegge (The Netherlands) 83
Forecasting – bridging the gap between sales and manufacturing
L.H. Meijden, J.A.E.E. van Nunen, A. Ramondt (The Netherlands) 101
The field service function in the electronics industry: Providing a link between customers and production/marketing
D.L. Hull (USA), J.F. Cox (USA) 115
Negotiating due-dates between customers and producers
S.R. Lawrence (USA) 127
Towards a better understanding of order acceptance
H.A. ten Kate (The Netherlands) 139
Acknowledgement referees 153

Diary of Events 155

Vol. 37, Nos. 2/3 (December 1994)

Publisher's Note 159
Performance modeling of an FMS with finite input and output buffers
C.S. Sung, S.T. Kwon (Korea) 161
A project activity scheduling problem with net present value measure
C.S. Sung, S.K. Lim (Korea) 177

0925-5273/94/$07.00 © 1994 Elsevier Science B.V. All rights reserved

The application of an open queueing network to the analysis of cycle time, variability, throughput, inventory and cost in the batch production system of a microelectronics manufacturer
K. Lynes, J. Miltenburg (Canada) 189
Determination of the optimal target values for a filling process when inspection is based on a correlated variable
M.K. Lee (South Korea), G.S. Kim (South Korea) 205
Development of computer-aided machining optimisation for multi-pass rough turning operations
P.K. Kee (Australia) 215
Competitive factors and performance measurement: Applying the theory of constraints to meet customer needs
J.L. Wahlers (USA), J.F. Cox, III (USA) 229
Note on an EOQ model with a temporary sale price
G.E. Martin (USA) 241
Reply on "Note on an EOQ model with a temporary sale price"
R.J. Tersine (USA) 245
The obstacles to successful CIM
R.E. McGaughey (USA), C.A. Snyder (USA) 247
The utilization of artificial intelligence to achieve availability improvement in automated manufacture
A. Davies, P.V. Thomas, M.W. Shaw (UK) 259
Approximations for the mean and variance of the throughput of flexible manufacturing cells
P.P. Wang (USA), G.R. Wilson (USA) 275


Erratum 285
Erratum 287
Diary of Events 289
Call for Papers 293
Author Index to Volume 37 295
Contents Volume 37 297